

Elitists Are Born

Posted on March 3, 2024 by jamesq

Elitists are born not made. An elitist is hardwired to manage the lives and behavior of aggregations of people with strong herd instincts. It is a co-dependent relationship between the elitist and the people whose lives are managed. Rank and file people instinctively relate to government as if it were a parent. Elitists and the rank and file are drawn together like opposite ends of a magnet.

Mark Zuckerberg, Elon Musk, Jeff Bezos, Michael Bloomberg and other government made billionaires are elitist. An elitist feels incomplete as a person if he is not making decisions as to how others behave and how they use their time and energy.

All Americans have a codependency relationship with government to one degree or another. In New York, this tendency is particularly pronounced.

Anyone who can read can and will benefit from reading The Fantasy – Free Advantage. There is no math or statistics. There are a few charts – all of which are easy to understand. There are no complex economic principles. There is no political ideology.

Visits: 30