

Fantasy Free Economics

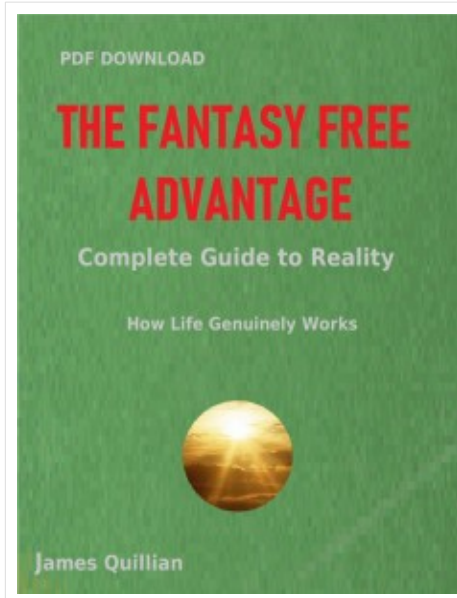

Have Dignity

Make Good Trades

Own Your Own Tools

Gifts to Billionaires Begin 250th Birthday USA

Posted on November 7, 2024 by jamesq

I am telling you. We live within the realm of an eternal power struggle. Human beings are used to it, so much so that they don't notice. Whoever wins a U.S. presidential election is global king of the mountain. However, the competition continues.

When Trump was elected in 2016, his first order of business was the passage of the Gifts to Billionaires Infrastructure Act. Who noticed that? Americans were too busy patting themselves on the back while shouting Make America Great Again. Secondly, he took serious measures towards preventing the Chinese from subsidizing American consumers. In return for unwittingly giving up precious freedoms, "patriots" got the wall and lots of patriotic rhetoric.

Trump's first initiative this time around in 2024 is a two hundred fiftieth birthday party for the nation. While Americans are doing happy dances shouting MAGA and hanging on every word their leader speaks, Gifts to billionaires and income transfers the bottom to the top will go on unchallenged.

Folks, this is politics. It is brutal. Once again, ordinary citizens will be joyfully promoting their own poverty by following their chosen Judas goat to slaughter.

Progress as a nation comes from programs that require principles of deferred gratification. Let me know if anyone notices Donald Trump suggesting anything of that nature.